

Tell everyone...

When you announce your engagement or marriage in The Border Watch newspaper, your message is read by people right throughout the south east of South Australia and south west of Victoria, so there's no better way to let people know of your good news.

You can also let people know all about your special day after the event by having an editorial and photo included on our weddings page printed fortnightly in The Border Watch. For more information please contact our front office on 8724 1555.
