Hand-crafted wedding ceremonies to elevate the spirit, connect people with each other and to their community

Born in the old Mount Gambler hospital and growing up in the area, I am delighted to return to the district making my celebrant services available all across the Limestone Coast and South West Victoria.

People who have no connection with organised religion still desire significant and appropriate wedding ceremonies.

In every way, I assist in the gathering up of the special moments of your relationship and help find the right words and symbols marking this significant right of passage.

My approach is holistic and personalised. I understand the significance of, and am committed to, creating a ceremony that reflects you and your relationship. Tertiary qualified at Monash University, Melbourne, this is the highest level of study currently available in celebrancy.

As a Minister of Interfaith, I can also offer a religious ceremony for those couples wanting to be married in a church.
